SATURDAY, AUGUST 26, 1900

WE WILL LOOK A LITTLE OUT IN THE FUTURE.

The JOURNAL made some statement in a late issue about a reported scarcity of money at Republicans' headquarters, making mention about a failure in duty by the trusts to those who have been given charge of the Republican side of the national canvass; also the reports were of a nature to indicate that there was truth in these reports. When the statements made were being written for the JOURNAL the writer was not prepared to believe that he was, by writing what was said, coming up to a very square way against a hornet's nest. A number of the readers of the paper, who have in each instance been Republicans, but who are enthusiastic supporters of Bryan and Stevenson, have called the writer down by saying that Hanna and the Republicans are deceiving the Democrats and other opponents of McKinley by their statements.

It is the expressed wish of some of those who take exception to the publication that the JOURNAL make known in this issue that the trusts will put up the last dollar required to elect McKinley, if money will do the work. It is claimed by these earnest men that the trusts have too good a thing to let it slip through their fingers, if money will prevent the slip. The JOURNAL gladly makes amends for two reasons, one of which is that it is due to these honest men that nothing should be passed in the way of their conviction of right. The other reason is in complete accord with much of the JOURNAL's work, which was included in the decent there has been practiced by Republican leaders or bosses upon the ranks of the party.

It is evident these men have thought over the deceit practiced upon the people by Republican leaders until they have become convinced in a manner that takes the character of absolute certainty that the practice of deceit is the chief political commandment in the work and service of the party. That deceit and nothing but deceit has kept the party in power, and that it is now before the country seeking to continue its power by the same means. It is refreshing to learn that some of the people are ascertaining the truth as it is respecting the most villainous combination of political iniquity that has been known west of the Atlantic.

McNiel's words are being confirmed more and more each day that passes over the land, which were: "You can fool all the people some of the time, and can fool some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." There is health in political thought among the people that is reassuring to those who love home and country, with its free institutions and equal rights to all the people. In healthy thought there is security for the people, as it contains an assurance that man will again occupy his God-given place with the dollar under his feet, where it must be, or he will be a slave. His chief yes, his only security against tyranny is his exalted position which has been given him, when all else that is material is under his feet.

PRESIDENT MAY CONTINUE CONGRESS.

The President has taken under consideration the propriety of calling Congress in extra session to consider the relations existing between the United States and China. The United States is not in a position to retire from China at this time. Something more is required than the relief to the American minister to the court at Pekin. Protection to American citizens for the present is well enough, but the situation demands the presence of a military force to secure protection without the aid of a standing army in that country in the future.

Security against the attacks of Boxers and other lawless organizations in that country in the future is required and now is the time an arrangement should be made to insure the continued safety of Americans when in China for any of the many purposes which an advanced civilization provides demanding the presence of United States citizens in the Orient. The only way through which a peaceful future can be provided is by way of a sufficient military force to enforce demands made to that end. The question there is to be determined by Congress is whether there is a state of war existing between the United States and China and furthermore, if it should be ascertained in the judgment of Congress that a state of war exists, a formal declaration of war should be made.

Democratic Rally.
A meeting was held last evening to organize a Bryan and Stevenson club. There was a goodly attendance and much enthusiasm manifested. Congressman Newlands addressed the meeting. An adjournment was had until Wednesday evening, when the organization will be completed.

The membership already numbers that of the Hanna club, and this in the Republican stronghold!

A proper spirit has been instilled in the minds of local Democrats and Bryan men, which will show itself in manifold ways as the campaign grows warmer.

The Directory.

The printing of the Reno Directory was commenced yesterday morning, and we can safely say that every advertiser and subscriber will get their money's worth. The work will be done as quickly as possible, and before long Reno will have a directory, and then the business men will wonder how they ever got along without one.

One thing that will be seen in this directory not often seen before is that no outside advertisements that conflict with the advertisers in Reno, will be seen in its pages.

If you have not subscribed for a directory, or want an advertisement, see about it at once, and if you think your name has not been taken, please send it with occupation and address to the JOURNAL office. It does not cost anything to have your name in the directory and you will be conferring a favor by sending in your name.
